

Unique Holiday Gift Idea

Coloring Books for Senior Adults

What do you give a senior adult for Christmas? One suggestion is the ColorPad.

The ColorPad pictures bring each era back to life and offer pages of memory prompting questions about the pictures. Not only can senior adults enjoy artistic fun, they can also write down memories. The opportunity to share increases the value of this gift. Holiday gatherings often challenge families to figure out how to entertain the multiple generations. Using ColorPads, seniors, their adult children and their grandchildren can sit down and color together as the senior recalls stories and experiences from decades gone by.

Life in the 50s brings that era back to life with drive-in restaurants, cool cars and poodle-skirted women.

Life in the 60s features memorable events such as the first space walk, the Kennedy era and the arrival of the Beatles. Life in the 70s includes memories of the first microwave, the Freedom Train and Vietnam.

The complete ColorPad system also offers ergonomic gel pens, colored pencils and markers to make coloring more comfortable for people with arthritis or joint pain. ColorPad books have been used for art therapy, speech therapy, conversation stimulators, memory stimulators, memory books (completed for grandchildren) and just for fun for people of all ages!

Information on the $4.95 ColorPads at www.twipublishing.com or Linda Mastaglio at (903) 963-8933.

